Database Information

The House Builders Pack

Containing contact details from a wide variety of companies, ranging in size from some industry leaders to smaller local businesses, this database presents the opportunity to put a sales message in front of some key decision makers at a very reasonable price.

The Electrical Contractors Pack

Electrical contracting firms are typically quite small, so this database presents the opportunity to put a message in front of the CEO, decision maker or buyer directly. Contained within this comprehensive database are the contacts of senior decision makers from a range of industries. Various names included in this list are: Bosch, Renault, Dyson, Vauxhall, Screwfix and many more...

Facilities Managers Pack

In terms of specific industries and sectors within those, this list is one of the most diverse available. Examples of sectors covered include: office developments, universities, hospitals, schools, various public sector workplaces, shopping complexes, sports stadia and many more.

Health & Safety Officers Pack

Using data from the various other lists Northgate manage, they used their contacts to create a database of health and safety officers at a number of transport, haulage, process engineering and building companies, as well as contacting a variety of businesses with more sedate environments.

The Process Engineers Pack

When creating this database, researchers simply asked for the senior process engineering contact at a number of businesses that range from the manufacture of food and drink to plastics, rubbers and building materials. While this means the job titles vary significantly, this database guarantees contact with a senior decision maker at the company.
